

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections.

We do not receive those disturbing calls during our dinner time now. My mother is in a nursing home and I feel that I must answer my phone in case of an emergency with her. I don't think I should have to invest in Caller-ID just because of those irritating tele-marketing calls. I wouldn't buy something over the phone anyway. How stupid do the telemarketers think we are anyway????
